

Hiring Department: School of Architecture

Location: 845 W Harrison St

Requisition ID: 1022270

Posting Close Date: January 8, 2024 at 11:59 PM Central Time.

The School of Architecture at the University of Illinois at Chicago invites applications and nominations for the following position, Assistant Professor, to commence August 2024.

Situated within the College of Architecture, Design, and the Arts (CADA), UIC's School of Architecture shares complementary research agendas with the other three internationally recognized schools in the college, particularly the School of Design, with which it shares facilities and labs. The School of Architecture offers five degree programs: pre-professional (a four-year Bachelor of Science in Architecture, providing students with the basis for advanced standing in a graduate professional program); professional (a three-year NAAB accredited Master of Architecture); post-professional (a one-year Master of Science in Architecture), and two academic degree programs (a Bachelor of Arts in Architectural Studies, and a two-year Master of Arts in Design Criticism).

Located in one of the nation's most ethnically diverse public urban research universities, the School of Architecture promotes architecture as a cultural practice. This implies that architecture is not only a defined field with intrinsic rules and specificities, but also one immersed in a network of manifestations, actions, philosophies, and conjunctural representations of who and how we are in the world today. Additional information about the School of Architecture can be found at <https://arch.uic.edu/>.

Assistant Professor

Preferred qualifications:

The selected candidate must demonstrate potential for investigating technology through creative architectural practice or scholarship into how design, science, and culture overlap. This includes how investigations into building materials and life cycles, environment and energy systems, ecology or climate agency contribute to disciplinary frameworks. The successful applicant will develop and teach elective courses in their area of expertise, and contribute to the core technology curriculum (seminars, lecture courses, and design studios) in both the undergraduate and graduate programs.

Minimum qualifications: Applicants should have at least two years of teaching experience and a promising record of creative scholarship or practice with external recognition. They must hold a terminal degree (Master of Architecture) or an equivalent graduate professional degree, or a doctorate in architecture or related fields.

To apply for this position, please submit a letter of interest including a statement of practice and pedagogical goals, a curriculum vitae, three professional references with complete contact information, and a portfolio documenting professional practice work and teaching samples.

For full consideration, applications must be received by January 8, 2024 at 11:59 PM Central Time.

Link to application: <https://uic.csod.com/ux/ats/careersite/1/home/requisition/7683?c=uic>

About the University of Illinois Chicago

UIC is among the nation's preeminent urban public research universities, a Carnegie RU/VH research institution, and the largest university in Chicago. UIC serves over 34,000 students, comprising one of the most diverse student bodies in the nation and is designated as a Minority Serving Institution (MSI), an Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander Serving Institution (AANAPSI) and a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI). Through its 16 colleges, UIC produces nationally and internationally recognized multidisciplinary academic programs in concert with civic, corporate and community partners worldwide, including a full complement of health sciences colleges. By emphasizing cutting-edge and transformational research along with a commitment to the success of all students, UIC embodies the dynamic, vibrant and engaged urban university. Recent "Best Colleges" rankings published by U.S. News & World Report, found UIC climbed up in its rankings among top public schools in the nation and among all national universities. UIC has nearly 260,000 alumni, and is one of the largest employers in the city of Chicago.

The University of Illinois Chicago is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer that has a strong institutional commitment to the principle of diversity and is particularly interested in receiving applications from a broad spectrum of people. We are committed to equal employment opportunities regardless of sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, race, color, religion, national origin, disability, protected Veteran status, age, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Please visit Required Employment Notices and Posters to view our non-discrimination statement and find additional information about required background checks, sexual harassment/misconduct disclosures, COVID-19 vaccination requirement, and employment eligibility review through E-Verify.

The university provides accommodations to applicants and employees. Request an Accommodation