

Eastern Illinois University
Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Criminology
Assistant Professor of Social Work
Position Announcement

The Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Criminology at Eastern Illinois University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor of social work to begin August 2024.

A Master of Social Work (MSW) degree is required at time of appointment in addition to a Ph.D. in Social Work, Doctor of Social Work (DSW), or related field; ABD applicants will be considered. We are seeking applicants with a background in social work practice to contribute to our Sociology program and an anticipated Interdisciplinary Bachelor of Social Work program with the Department of Human Services. Successful candidates will have expertise in one or more of the following areas: family and society, social welfare, social work practice, macro social work, international development, or immigration services. Preference will be given to candidates that can teach current departmental offerings, including introduction to social work, and develop new courses in their areas of expertise. Candidates must be committed to excellence in undergraduate teaching, demonstrate potential for research and publication, and service to the discipline/university. A commitment to diversity and experience with promoting inclusive excellence is required. The department and university encourage applicants of historically underrepresented groups to apply.

Please send a letter of application, curriculum vita, contact information for three references, unofficial graduate transcripts, and a statement of teaching philosophy to: <http://apply.interfolio.com/131427>. Questions about the position may be directed to Dr. Michael Gillespie, Chair of the Search Committee at mgillespie@eiu.edu. In order for your application to be given full consideration, all materials must be received by October 27, 2023.
