

Eastern Illinois University
Psychology Department
Job Position Announcement

The Psychology Department at Eastern Illinois University invites applications for a full-time non-tenure-track instructor in any area of expertise in psychology. Responsibilities include teaching undergraduate courses, as well as advising undergraduate students. Courses may include introductory psychology, theories of personality, psychology of adolescent, as well as other developmental courses, and other areas of need. The position begins August 16, 2021.

A doctorate in any area of psychology is required (ABD will be considered). The individual filling this position will need to be prepared (or willing) to teach a wide array of courses, as well as demonstrate a commitment to diversity, and have experience with promoting inclusive excellence.

Applicants should submit the following: 1) a letter of application indicating how the candidate's background and credentials meet the position's responsibilities and qualifications; 2) a current vita; 3) a list of names, phone numbers, and emails for three professional references. Application materials must be submitted electronically to Interfolio at <http://apply.interfolio.com/84003>. Review of applications begins immediately and will continue until position is filled. For questions regarding this search, please contact Jeffrey Stowell, Screening Committee Chair, at jrstowell@eiu.edu.

Eastern Illinois University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer - minority/female/disability/veteran - committed to achieving a diverse community.